Bulloch County Development Corp. has option on land for new industry

Statesboro's newest industry moved a step nearer reality Wednesday as Mayor W. A. Bowen, spokesman for the Bulloch County Development Corporation, announced that an option had been taken on an 88 acre tract of land near the Statesboro Airport on which a 200,000 square foot building will be erected to house a huge new manufacturing plant. Construction of the building itself is expected to be underway by January 1, 1961.

U. S. 301 group holds national meeting here

Motel and restaurant owners and operators and businessmen up and down the entire length of U. S. Highway 301 met here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to discuss the problems of the "tourist industry."

Members of the U. S. 301 Highway Association Inc. met here for their annual convention this week with headquarters at the Statesboro Hotel. Monday evening at the dinner meeting Col. J. F. Risher, of Carlisle Military School at Bamberg, S. C. was the principal speaker.

Thanksgiving Day service to be held

The annual Community Thanksgiving service will be held in the First Baptist Church of Statesboro on Thursday, November 24, at 9:00 a.m., according to information released this week by the Bulloch County Protestant Ministers' Conference, which sponsors this annual service.

It's a mixed-up pear tree, it is

It's a poor, mixed up pear tree and no wonder, what with 73 degrees weather here passed the middle of November and Thanksgiving only one week off. The pear tree belongs to Miss Fannie Haddock on South College Street. It now has more pears on it than it did in the spring of the year. But Old Man Winter will change all that pretty soon and teach that pear tree a lesson--not to be too smart out of season.

Christmas Seal campaign begins in the county

Members of the Statesboro Business and Professional Women's Club this week mailed out thousands of letters enclosing 1960 Christmas Seals to begin the annual Christmas Seal Campaign for funds with which to fight tuberculosis.

The campaign officially began Monday, November 14, with the first day of Georgia Christmas Seal Campaign, sponsored by Governor Ernest Vandiver. "A great deal of time and effort went into preparing those thousands of letters containing the Seals," Miss Ann Williford and Miss Zula Gammage, co-chairmen of the campaign sponsored by the Statesboro B.P.W. Club, said. "But it gives us the satisfaction of knowing that in some way we are helping to defeat tuberculosis, one of the worst enemies man has ever encountered," they added.

This point out that "you can help to keep everybody safe from tuberculosis by making a generous contribution and using Christmas Seals on your cards, letters and packages. We will be grateful for whatever you can do to help this great cause this year."

The schedule for the balance of 1960 is as follows:

Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 24, will be a holiday. Retail business hours will remain open all Wednesday afternoon through Wednesday, December 29, of last year.

Panel of federal judges void Georgia's 'Blue Tag' law

A panel of federal judges ruled that Georgia's "blue tag" or tobacco identification law is unconstitutional and invalid.

The ruling was made on Wednesday, November 9, and was signed by Judges Frank Scarlett of Brunswick, Warren L. Jones and Bryan Simpson, both of Jacksonville, Fla.

The ruling made permanent an injunction first obtained last August by Georgia tobacco warehousemen including those of Statesboro. The three-judge panel had the suit under advisement for two months before issuing their decision.

The Statesboro and Swainsboro warehousemen filed the injunction on July 30, two days after the 1960 market opened. They contended that the 1960 law was discriminatory and in infringement on federal powers in interstate commerce.

The 1960 law provided that Georgia, Alabama and Florida tobacco was to be marked by a white tag on the warehouse floor and that other tobacco, including that from South Carolina, was to be marked by a colored (blue) tag.

The federal panel said that the provisions of the law were a restraint on interstate commerce and also were in a field where Congress had preempted legislative authority.

Guest speakers for the three-day meeting will be: Monday evening, Elder R. L. Mitchell of Savannah, Tuesday evening, Elder C. C. Carrin of Metter, and Wednesday evening, Elder Roland Waters of Brunswick.

Elder T. Roe Scott, Pastor of the Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church, announced that all those interested are invited to attend these services.

stand why the Herald employees had so much trouble moving these 8,000 pound machines. Some of the equipment has yet to be moved. Because of unforeseen difficulties, the larger 10-ton press, a smaller press, and the folding machine remain to be moved.

Plans were first arranged for the press to be rolled down the streets of Statesboro during the early hours of the morning. We couldn't imagine the employees of the Herald actually moving the 10-ton press. They must not have been able to either because the National Guard was called to their aid in order for them to use some of their equipment to move the presses.

The Rev. J. Robert Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the devotional. Mrs. Carroll Harrington, chairman of the PTA, presented a report of its findings and recommendations made to the county board of education. Mr. Albert Braswell Jr., chairman of the study group, made the report to use some of their equipment to move the presses.

To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

AS WE WORK with the beginning band classes in Mattie Lively and Sallie Zetterower schools, it is immediately obvious that these students who have had piano training, or some other musical background in another school system before transferring here, are able to catch on so much more quickly to the band instruments. A student who has already learned the names of the notes, and the meaning of all the terms and signs used on the printed music is able to devote his whole learning energy to the instrument itself, with all the complicated fingering combination, and control of the facial muscles, and the control of the breathing to make the sounds.

And inevitably, the question occurs, why cannot we here in Bulloch County have music training in our country all reflect this lack of music experience. Not a one has too many voices. That is not to say that we do not have a gift, and not all of us have that gift. We speak only of average singing ability, which is possessed by about 999 people out of a thousand. All that needs doing is to teach the child to sing, and give him opportunity to get used to it.

AMERICAN FARMERS COMPARED WITH RUSSIAN

If American farmers were no more efficient than those of the Soviet Union, 22½ million Americans who now work in manufacturing, construction, mining, the trades, transportation and other non-farm business would have to produce food, clothing and forest products, according to United States Department of Agriculture reports.

THE BULLOCH HERALD

By E. T. (Red) MULLIS

Soil Conservation Service

Last week I reported to you about some extra activities which we had been engaged in here in Bulloch County as part of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District. This week I would like to review some things which have come to light as a result of these recent visits with our "old" as well as "new" District cooperators.

On the bright side, our co-operators are following a planned approach to their problems of soil and water conservation. They are not doing things in a hit and miss fashion, but are applying soil and water conservation measures with an overall objective in mind. This is the fact that I am so far behind in my farm planning work.

Our pond construction work is very good. Mr. Neal Bowen in the Register community has recently constructed a fine pond on his farm. He not only built the dam, spillway and drain system perfectly, but also dug the entire pond and deepened the edges to two feet. He then prepared a seeded on the dam, spillway, pond edges and entrances and seeded penacola pasha grass and ryegrass. He plans to fence off this fine pond (except drinking water from livestock to prevent their ruining it. Rudolph Rusing was the contractor for this job.

On this last point of fencing off the pond, especially the dam and spillway, I would like to comment. On our inspection, we looked at many ponds of different ages. One pond was nine years old, but in perfect condition. It had been properly sodded.

County agent talks about selling trees

By ROY POWELL

County Agent

Last week in this column we talked about harvesting timber and especially about the advantage of selling larger trees. Larger trees. This week we'll talk about the next step—selling the timber.

Three important steps should be followed when planning and making a timber sale. First, make plans for future timber crops. This must be done before the sale is made and the timber cut. A good amount of stocking should be left to keep the forest area in continuous production. If the stand to be cut is old and only a few seed trees may be left, about six or eight good trees should be left well spaced on each acre. Sometimes a stand may be cleared and planted, but in any case provisions should be made to keep the area in production.

The second step in a sale is to measure the trees you might measure standing trees, logs, lumber, or in the case of pulpwood the number of cords of wood. Both buyer and seller benefit by knowing the approximate amount of sawtimber or pulpwood that will be involved in the sale. If the products are not measured when sold, either deducted, the edges deepened, and protected from overgrazing from cattle and rooting by hogs. This pond has been preserved in its original design from livestock to prevent their ruining it. Rudolph Rusing was the contractor for this job.

On this last point of fencing off the pond, especially the dam and spillway, I would like to comment. On our inspection, we looked at many ponds of different ages. One pond was nine years old, but in perfect condition. It had been properly sodded.

Others playing were Mrs. T. L. Moore Jr., Mrs. J. L. Riggs, Mrs. Reginald Anderson, Mrs. H. Banks, Mrs. Aroha Temples, Mrs. B. Johnson, Mrs. E. S. Brannen, Mrs. John Ed Brannen and Mrs. Otis Holloway.

Mrs. L. A. Anderson is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marlin and family of Hahira this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brock and daughter of Montgomery, Ala., recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bird.

Mrs. Eubie Riggs and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dixon visited relatives in Savannah on Wednesday.

We traveled life together. For many happy years. Until death came to part us. And leave us here in tears. Though pain can be forgotten. As time goes swiftly by. It's just the hours of loneliness. That sometimes makes us cry. So may we in your memory. Strive hard in every way. To be as good as you were. Fifteen years ago today.

I could not believe what my eyes saw
 By LAWRENCE E. HOUSTON JR.

I had been told by many people of the majestic beauty of the autumn leaves in the Tallulah Gorge. I still could not believe my eyes as I gazed upon their loveliness last week. Taking advantage of a school holiday, my family and I packed some picnicking essentials and drove north on Friday morning. Between Greensboro and Watkinville, we discovered a brand new picnic and camping area situated beside a small river. There we lunched in the peaceful beauty of God's out-of-doors. But, this was only the beginning. We drove on to Tallulah Falls and the panorama of color began to unfold before our wondering eyes. Even our children were spellbound with the spectacle.

I have been notorious in lacking a sense of beauty, or at least, giving expression to such. More than once, I have entered the sanctuary of the Church, noticed in silent appreciation the floral arrangement, and then proceeded without the slightest reference to the beauty afforded by the flowers. Perhaps one's appreciation matures with age. Anyway, the beauty of nature, so long taken for granted, means more to me today than ever before.

We drove on to Clayton from Tallulah Falls and were further enthralled with the brilliant hues that covered the mountainsides. From Clayton we motored west to Hiwassee, spent the night, and Saturday morning found us touring Young Harris, Blairsville, and Vogel State Park. Here, pony rides were on the "must list" for our two girls. Watching one of the attendants chase down two very frisky ponies provided more thrill than the rides themselves.

I never see the mountains but that my mind returns to the Psalmist who said: "I will lift up mine eyes to the hills." With the Psalmist we lifted up our eyes to the hills and saw God at work. Then I realized there is a beauty which far surpasses the brilliance of autumn leaves on the mountainside. It is the handiwork of God within human life, seeking to transform it into His likeness, and to transplant His Beauty there.

 POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF STATESBORO: I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Councilman for the City of Statesboro in the election to be held on December 2, 1960. The place I am seeking is now held by Inman M. Foy Sr. There has been no Councilman elected for the past fourteen years who lives west of South Main Street and West of North Main Street and I think that City officials should be more evenly divided over the area to be served. I live on South College Street. Any interest shown in my behalf will be greatly appreciated.

 Respectfully Submitted,

Statesboro PCA stockholders to meet Nov. 26
 Official notices of the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Statesboro Production Credit Association's stockholders to be held Saturday morning, November 26, at 10:30 o'clock in the Bulloch County Courthouse in Statesboro are being mailed this week, according to Mr. Josh Nesmith, of the local PCA.

It will be a joint meeting of the Statesboro PCA and the Federal Land Bank Association. Financial and director's reports will be made for both organizations. The nomination and election of directors and other business will come before the stockholders. The Statesboro PCA has made 13,886 loans to farmers in Bulloch and Evans Counties, amounting to $13,769,665.00 since it was organized. The 1960 loans will reach a record high of around $1,400,000.00. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

C of C moves closer to 300 member goal

The membership drive of the Chamber of Commerce is moving slowly toward the goal of 300 members, according to "Tiny" Hill, President of the Chamber. With the addition of new members, the total now stands at 253 members—37 short of our goal, he added.

Mike Minkovitz, chairman of the finance committee, urged that partial investments be made in by those who did not feel able to send in checks for the entire amount at this time.

The Chamber of Commerce is working continually in the fields of industrial development, retail trade development, tourist development and is continually striving to assist in the promotion of sound programs for the benefit of the youth of our community.

U. S. 301 group
opposes county
fee system

Several important decisions were reached during the business sessions of the recent meeting of the U. S. Highway 301 Association held at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen, November 14-16. The group voted unanimously to support the Georgia Resolution calling for all sheriffs and law enforcement agents to be put on salary rather than on a fee system, now in operation in many counties.

The organization re-wrote their bylaws to provide for a National President and a Vice President in place of the past system whereby, each state along the route, had a Vice President. Under the new system, the Association will be governed by a Board of Directors, elected from the various states along the highway.

Frank Hartzog, of Bamberg, South Carolina, was re-elected president and Dwight S. Strickland, Claxton, Ga., was elected vice president. Directors named for the state of Georgia were: W. O. Walnwright, Nahant, Ga. and Charles Bryant, Statesboro, Ga. The new by-laws provide for additional directors from Georgia who will be named at a later date.

Enrollment at GSC this fall is 1,282, the highest in history. About 900 students are living on the campus, and the remainder commute.

All citizens are urged to call on the Bulloch County Health Department to obtain information and a better understanding of the disease, alcoholism, which infiltrates and destroys families in all walks of life and which has become one of our three major health problems.

W. A. BOWEN, Mayor

Alcoholism ranks among the four major health threats in the United States today, along with cancer, mental illness and heart disease.

November 28 - December 2 has been designated as Alcoholism Information Week by President Eisenhower, proclaimed in Georgia by Governor Vandiver, and in Statesboro by Mayor W. A. Bowen. The week is sponsored in Georgia by the National Council on Alcoholism and its Georgia unit, the Metropolitan Atlanta Committee on Alcoholism, by the Alcoholism Rehabilitation Service, Georgia Department of Public Health, and locally by the Bulloch County Health Department with the aid of the Statesboro Group of Alcoholics Anonymous.

According to the American Medical Association, alcoholism is a disease, not a disgrace. And the victim of alcoholism is not a drunk, but a person who is physically, mentally and socially handicapped which only community action can extend.

Like a man in a glass box, that's how a recovered alcoholic is described himself. He is alive. He could see and be seen. But he could not communicate with anyone. He is in a box, apart from the world, not understanding it, not understood by it. This lack of understanding is the great tragedy of alcoholism.

Industrial waste losses through absenteeism due to alcoholism are estimated at 432 million dollars a year. And the further economic loss due to present and professional deterioration is beyond calculation.

There are probably 400 alcoholics or potential alcoholics in Bulloch County who need help. Headquarters for Alcoholism Information week is the Bulloch County Health Department on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, December 2, 3, 4 and 5. Information is available for those who want it. Qualified speakers to discuss alcoholism with groups who desire to know more about the disease can be secured by contacting or calling the Health Department at PO 4-6151.

The Statesboro Group of Alcoholics Anonymous will be open every Thursday, December 3, at 8:30 p.m. in the club room. The public is invited. Alcoholics Anonymous telephone number is PO 4-2200.
